Subject: Publication of State Owed Funds

I have had a suggestion from one of you that we should put on our website a banner of some sort indicating the amount of money the state owes us. I had a suggestion from an employee that we should put this amount on both of our school message boards.

These items are certainly things we could do, but I am not comfortable doing that without the BOE all wanting to do so. I don't know if I am entirely comfortable with the potential message it sends, but I am certainly open to discussion about it. Let's use this time to discuss the benefits and consequences of these actions.
