Millburn District certified teachers participated in a joint staff development activity on October 15 at Antioch High School. The focus was on instruction that works in the classroom. Four districts participated: Millburn District 24, Emmons District 33, Grass Lake District 36, and Community High School District #117. The sessions were varied and covered a multitude of interests including technology that can be used to help teach and reinforce information in the classroom. Another benefit was the development of a peer resource pool for ideas and experiences. The evaluations were generally very positive.
